Woodpeckers We've been investigating what plants need to grow well and writing up our results as a TV show.

Height of plant at the start of the investigation:	17cm	Height of plant at the end of the investigation:	17
Observe your plant regularly and record what you notice.
Date:	16-9-23	17-9-23	20-9-23
Observations:
Describe what you have observed once the investigation is complete.
The one in the dark still grew but went a bit yellow. It started at 16cm and went a bit droopy but is still alive.
Answer your question.
plants don't really need light but a really good plant needs it but if you leave it for too long it will die.

Red Squirrels Have been working on their drawing skills. They have been looking at plants in fine detail and shading. Congratulations to Cormac for completing some excellent maths work.
